What is the Sound of One Hand Clapping? National Library Week!

Did you know that “Hootie-Hoo” was originally used on The Andy Griffith Show as a greeting? And not in an Outkast song first? Me either. Did you know that peanut butter is really made from brown lentil beans? I made that one up. Did you know that it is almost National Library Week, and that it makes me want to say hootie-hoo AND say whaaaaaaaar? like that mom on that Cox bundle commercial? Because that is a True Story. Here is the 411* on the NLW:

Monday, April 14th: READ Posters (11:00am-1pm)
Come get your picture taken with a book and made into a READ poster! Or bonus, just drop by for the popcorn!

Wednesday, April 16th: Edible Book Contest (10:00-noon)
Join us for our annual edible book contest, mostly featuring lots o’ cake. Submit your edible literary greatness to the Circulation Desk before 10:00. Or simply drop by to vote for your favorite “book” and stay around to eat them at noon!

6:30pm Muslim Journeys Closing Reception
Join us for the Muslim Journeys Closing Reception where we will enjoy Islamic poetry! Refreshments will be served. Open to everyone!

Thursday, April 17th: Magnetic Poetry
Come by the library and create some poems with magnets in honor of both National Library Week AND National Poetry Month. You do not do, you do not do / Any more, black shoe.

*Does 411 exist anymore or is there just Google? Does anyone call Time anymore? Does anyone know what I’m talking about? Helllllllooo from the Wormhole! It’s Britt!

Library Open 24-hours during Finalz!
Come for the crammin’ and jammin’ and ryhmin’ and stealin’ minus the jammin’ and ryhmin’* and stealin’ parts!

Extended Hours
Sunday, April 13th: 1 pm - 3 am
Monday, April 14th - Thursday, April 17th: 7:30 am - 3 am
Friday, April 18th: 7:30 am - 10 pm
Saturday, April 19th: 8 am - 10 pm

24/5
Sunday, April 20th open @ 1 pm - Friday, April 25th close @ 10 pm
Saturday, April 26th: 8 am - 10 pm
Sunday, April 27th open @ 1 pm - Friday, May 2nd close @ 8 pm

The last day of 24/5 will be Friday, May 2nd

CLOSED
Sat & Sun, May 3rd & 4th

Intersession Hours will begin Monday, May 5th at 8 am

*Unless you’re a poet and know it and hope you don’t blow it.