Get Out Your Planners! April is Full O’ Fun!

April is off to a slightly rocky* start for me. April Fool’s Day is taken quite seriously at home, you see. The sprayer to the sink was taped down so that I got a face full of water when I turned on the sink, a cup of ice fell on my head when I opened a door, pennies flew and hit me from the ceiling fan, and all of my glasses went missing. Needless to say, I am glad to be back in the comfort of the library. My co-workers are less likely to prank me.

I am also extra-glad to be back at the library because April is chock-full of activities. It’s almost like how Kellogg’s Raisin Bran says there are 2 scoops of raisins except instead of raisins, we have activities, and instead of 2 scoops, we have a gazillion (approx.) scoops of events. You know why? Because we aim to please and are against false advertising AS WELL AS endless seas of nothing-but-bran.

So here we go. For National Library Week we have (drum-roll with dried grapes):

8th Annual Edible Book Contest - Tuesday, April 10th
All are invited to participate. Make something edible based on any book or character, let everyone vote for their favorites, then eat cake! Please bring your edible book to the Circulation Desk by 9:30am.

VIEWING & VOTING: 10:00am - 12:00pm
EATING: 12:00pm (usually gone in 15 minutes!)

Instagram Photo Contest - Wednesday, April 11th
Snap a pic in the library, and show us your #PaceFace!

Magnetic Poetry - Thursday, April 12th
Piece together some stanzas on our white board! (all day)

Since we are HardcoreTM and NewWaveTM, we don’t stop the festivities with National Library Week. We keep them rolling with:

Mindfulness 101 – Monday, April 16th @12:30
Learn techniques to manage stress in our Great Good Place (2nd floor).

Mid-day Music – Wednesday, April 18th @ noon
Take a midday music break break and enjoy the sounds of our very own UWF String Quintet.

Paws & Play – Tuesday, April 24th @ 11am-1pm
The therapy dogs are coming! You must pet them!

well, except that one time when my office was covered with tiny dots of paper from the hole-puncher and made into a winter wonderland of “snow.” Thanks, Arie!
